

but XSDRA precipitated all the waters which the obstructor had concealed, in succession, down to the hollows (of the earth).

1- The amplitude of INDEA was vaster than the (space of) heaven: earth was not comparable to him, in bulk; formidable and most mighty, he has been, ever, the afflicter (of the enemies of) those men (who worship him); he whets his thunderbolt, for sharpness, as a bull, (his horns).

2. The firmament-abiding INBEA grasps the wide-spread waters with his comprehensive faculties,* as the ocean (receives the rivers) : he rushes, (impetuous,) as a bull, to drink of the Soma juice ; he,

the warrior, ever covets praise for his prowess.

^a Oril'hndti * varimabhih,—he grasps, witli Ms powers of comprehending*, or collecting, aamwvranaih; or, it may be, by-Ms